A saving of one hundred and see notice in distance, and four and a half hours in time, in a journey of a little over a thousand miles, with the difference of nearly four dollars in the fare, will soon be considerations of acfinicient amportance to change from old channels and give new direction almost, to the whole current of travel between the termini of any given oute. Such we doubt not will be the effect of the completion of the Detroit and Milwandos road. It will constitute a route, through a pleusantly diversified, rich, productive, and attractive part of the country, as well as of Canada, so much shorter, quicker, and chaper than any other, that it can hardly fail to become the principal toroughfare between the Atlantic and the whole upper Mississippi valley, including Iowa and Minnesota, nise Wisconsio, and ultimately to Cairfornia. onion—Nice—ite Trade—President Van Buren —an Karthquake—Olive, Lemon, and Orango Trees—the Palm-Flowers—Foreigners appointed Consuls - Cheats. Neoz, March 4th, 1855.

The trip from Marseilles to this place is made a some ten or twelve hours by see, and give the traveller a fine view of the gracefully curved bay of Lyons, the islands of If, and the calm. blue Mediteraneae. Scattered along too, on its quiet surface, are vessels from various countries, all rigged differently from each other in some respects. Among the rest may be noticed the pictureaque latteen sails peculiar to this sea. We left Toulon at some distance to our left.-

This city is a strong naval arsenal, and is remembered as the place where Bouaparte, then I young artillery officer, aged 23, distinguished himself for the first time. It contains from 45,-000 to 50,000 inhabitants. In sailing along before entering the harbor of Nice, the view of the country is extremely fine-long ranges of the southern Aips are seen covered with snow, with their heads towering for up in the aky; and nearer still the lower ranges of the Riviers, as all these lower countries are called which border or the Mediterranean. The city itself is enugly curves of the shore white with the sand of the beech. The old part of this city is something like that of Lyons-built on parrow, filthy streets, scarcely wide enough for three persons to pass abreast .-The basements are used for shope, for there are o stores as in American critics, where everything is sold and where lighte are burning most of the time, day as well as night. These buildings look very old, being covered with tile instead of shingles, which has accumulated moss and the refuse from the chimneys for hundreds of years. But the new part is laid out with much taste upon wide streets, broad avenues, and public walk s.-These streets have as fine sidewalks as are found is any city East or West, being made from small pobbles in the same manner as streats are payed thing to be seen in any other part of Italy.

Nice is quite a fashionable resort as a watering ga is in the United States. There have quite : number of English people come here and purchased properly and made improvements. There is a very heautiful drive for more than a mile square set out with ornamental trees and cooled gratuitously by the English residents. The city itself is built upon a curve in the sen and the suburbs extending on all sides up the mountain slopes, give it a very picturesque appearance. The mountains, high up as anything will grow, are covered with olive trees, resembling a large kind of silvery willow that is very common in New England, growing around streams, and add much to the scenery by contrasting their green branches with the whit painted houses in their midst.

The town has a population of upwards of 30,000. It has some manufactories of silk and other small articles -- but its chief articles of ex roved it. April 2d, providing for the protection port are wine, oil and point. Its trade however, fishe above lands, and to great are-emption is small—its main attractions are the natura rights thereon. We give a brief abstract of its beauty of its location, the salubrity of its mountain alt, and the flue sea-bathing upon the shore of the Mediterranean,

But the season was over, and there were bu ow strangers here. By an autograph in the registry of the Hotel de Prence where I stopped, I saw that our now venerable ex President Martic months imprisonment for destroying or taking | Van Bures, and his son Martin, who was an inaway timber from these lands; and sec. 4, gives | valid, had boarded at the same house during the winter and had but just left for Paris. Our Italian host, in addition to boasting considerable about having such a distinguished guest, told the fol lowing anecdote. Nice is subject occasionally to earthquakes, but no severe shock has been felt for many years. Mr. Van Buren told themfor the rarity and novelty of it, that he would suits, and proceeds of damages and of sales of like to have a "small shake" happen while he seized timber to go to the State. The Counties was there. Sure enough, about four weeks before I got along, in the dead of night, the whole city and mountains commenced rocking, and the inhabitants in the greatest consternation fled to near the hotel was Mr. Van Buren in dishabille in a high state of excitement. The citizens passed the balance of the night in the atreets,-An elderly Scotch lady at my right at the dinner produced by it. He informed me that he had aften experienced similar heavy shocks in that country both on sea and land-that the sensations of hor for and fear produced, he cared not however brave and fearless the man might be, were indescribable. He also said that one time he was in the West Indies where there was a gentleman, as was supposed, on his death-bad, prostrated by some malignant disease of the country, and his physicians had told his friends that he could not possibly live through the night. But about midnight there was heard the hollow rumbling noise recoding the beaving to and fro of the earththe buildings began to tumble down, and every one to look out for himself. The sick man, descried by his watchers, with the strength of fear and despair, arose and walked some distance to

Here for the first time I felt the soft balwy breezes of an Italian climate. By the appear ance of the gardens, the vegetables in the market and the dress of the citizene, one would be led to think it was summer. The olive tree was green. with its leaf half formed and like the vine draws only in the valley, but upon the ragged sides of mountains. In its sature it is domestic, and only thrives for the benefit of man. They generally grow in rows, and look at a distance, with the exception of the color before alluded to, very much like a borr-oak orchard. They do not attain a very great height. Here, too, for the first time, I saw the orange and lemon trees growing in their natural state. Lemons and oranges are just as plenty and much cheaper than apples with us. The trees are generally small, and the fruit can mostly be picked standing on the ground. The leaves are thick, and are dark green in color. Some trees are in blossom, and some have ripe fruit on them. The best way, I am, informed, to get oranges and have them fresh. nformed, to get oranges and have them freshis to buy the crop of one tree at a time, for which two trance (a triffe over a shilling) is paid, and then the purchaser can pick them off at his leisare. They do not all get ripe at the same time on one single tree, as with our fruit trees.

I also saw the graceful paim tree for the first time. Those I saw were not large. There were where the accident occurred. He was a single where the accident occurred. He was a single where the accident occurred. He was a single was oppearance over all other trees. The leaves are very thick and green, something like those of the magnetia at the south, or the chemut at the magnetia at the south, or the chemut at the magnetia at the south, or the chemut at the magnetia at the south, or the chemut at the magnetia at the south, or the chemut at the magnetia at the south of the piece.—[Oshkosh Courier.] the north, only very green. The flora of Nice, I am told, is very rich—not only the hepatica floreishes here, but primroses, rarely seen in any othr portion of Italy, two varieties of sweet violet a profusion of scarlet, purpleand pink anemones, together with many of the tropical plants.

There are two places from which a splendid view of this city and adjacent country can be had, but only at the expense of climbing. Being the country to both. One is from a high mountain salled Monberone, where there is an old eastle in ruins, and the other is on a high craggy clift or mountain; overlanging the harbor very close to the city. Here in the last named place was also come a formidable castle, but in 1766 it was view of this city and adjacent country can be once a formidable castle but in 1706 it was blown up by the duke of Berwick, under the direction of Louis XIV. Within the pas few years these rains have in part been cleared : way. and walks faid out, so that for those who can stand the fatigue of climbing, it forms a solendid promonade. About half way down o one side of this mountain, there is a convent of some kind, with a chapel and cemetery. Here there are walks and grounds laid out, in which it all times may be seen pricets dressed in long alack robes, walking with slow and solomn read, having books in their hands and apparently ending. On the other side, fronting the sea, there are strong fortifications and ramparts. Huge cannon are stretched along, pointing seat and; soldiers are pasing to and fro-all reminding one of the necessity of gunpowder in these revolutionary times, when the people begin to bink

On enquiry of a bystander, we learned that " he did not know but the proprietors of that Hotel had concluded to go forward on their own account and put up a first class house." The report, however, "needs confirmation." We can only say that the improvement most needed in our city just now is a first class. Hotel, for after the opening of the Lake Shore Railroad, we shall have an influx of travel which will speedily overflow our present Hotel accommodations, and their crowded condition will deter many persons from coming to or remaining in our city, who would otherwise come to us and invost their capital among us.

Connection.—We are glad to learn that we were misinformed as to the extent of the injury suffered by the man Ellis, in the workshop of the M. & M. R. R. Company, Monday. Dr HATCHARD, one of the attending physicians, tells us that no amputation has yet been deemed necessary. The circular saw itself cut off the bone point of the elbow, laying open the joint and dividing the fleshy and muscular part of the arm for some distance. Even with the best treat-ment and under the most favorable circumstances, a stiff joint and greatly impaired limb must b the result.

NEARLY Two FIRES,-Yesterday forencon, a one of the hands belonging to the Gas Compamy was fixing the pipes in Nazro's new building, some shavings between the coiling and the floor above caught fire, but was promptly extinguished without material damage. This building, by far the finest of the kind in the West had a very narrow escape. The tinman employed on the Washington

A CARD.

Mesers. Ince & Callendine.

Green.—The undersigned, having attended your exhibition of the Panorama of a "Voyage to Europe." desire to express to you the pleasure they experienced in witnessing its varied scenes of interest and beauty. From the moment of first stepping on board the proud steamer at East Boston, to the end of the voyage at the sublime and magnificent Drachenfels, its interest continues constantly to increase, and imparts to the beholders new delight at every change of view. Mesera. Ince & Collondine :

As a work of art we cannot too highly commend its merits, while the instruction and amuse-ment it affords are unsurpassed by any exhibition of a similar kind ever before presented to this community.

The impressions to be derived from its representation cannot fail to be useful to any observer, and we consider it the next in importance treaking the grand tour which it is designed to illustrate.

Milwaukee, May 1, 1855. Common Council.—At the regular session the Council, on Monday evening, the Mayor's communication, proposing a Secret Police, was referred to the Police Committee. The City Surveyor announced that he had appointed Joseph Clark, Deputy Surveyor for the Second Ward .-A communication from the Lake Shore Railroad Company, asking for a return of some of the Sonds of the road, in consideration of its adranced state, was referred to a select Committee The City Comptroller was instructed to nurches a new safe for the Treasurer, at a cost of $600. The following resolution, offered by Alderman MITCHELL, was adopted :

Resolved. That the Aldermen of the 5th Ward Masoived. That the Aldermen of the 5th Ward be directed to locate a slip or ship Canal in the 5th Ward of this city, nommencing on the Milwaukes River at the east end of Fark street, the centre of Park street being the centre of sald canal, to Clinton or River street, and that said slip or canal be laid out and censtructed two hundred feet in width. in scendings with an act approved March 19th, 1853, and the act amendatory thereto, approved Jany, 18th, 1854.

Ald. HARRER introduced a resolution, which passed, instructing the City Marshal to report to the City Attorney the names of any persons who violate the ordinance, to regulate drays and backs Ald, HARRER introduced a resolution which was adopted, instructing the Judiclary Committee to prepare in a convenient and concise form the orderances of the city for publication. ber auggest during yesterday, that if to every twelve stores on Water atreet there was one Carpenter's Rotary Pumps with the hose at tached, the whole of the street could be regularly aprinkled at a less coat than by the ordinary method. Is this idea worth acting on? All day yesterday the dust was blown about in cloud and many of the merchants had to close their doors to prevent their goods from being spoiled.

THE ECLIPSE ECLIPSED .- We presume that the total eclipse of the moon came officet evening as advertised; but so far as the community are conserned, it was a complete failure. Thick clouds covered the sky and hid the moon-much to the lisappointment of hundreds of star-gazets.

Young Man's Association;—The members the Association doubtless do not need any reminder of the election of officers, which takes place this evening, the polls being open from 71/2 to 9 o'elock.

From some intimetions which we had het evening, we are inclined to think that those who have the real interest of the Society at heart, may as well be on hand. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The trip from Marseilles to this place is made a some ten or twelve hours by sea, and gives the traveller a fine view of the gracefully curved bay of Lyons, the islands of If, and the calm, blue Mediteraneau. Among the rest may be noticed the picturesque latteen sails peculiar to this sea. We left Toulon at some distance to our left .-

This city is a strong naval amenal, and is remembered as the place where Bounparte, then a young artillery officer, aged 23, distinguished himself for the first time. It contains from 45,-000 to 50,000 inhabitants. In sailing along before entering the harbor of Nice, the view of the country is extremely fine-long ranges of the southern Alps are seen covered with snow, with their heads towering far up in the aky; and neater still the lower ranges of the Riviers, as all these lower countries are called which border on the Mediterranean. The city itself is enugly built at the foot of these mountains, and the flue curves of the shore white with the sand of the

The old part of this city is something like that of Lyons-built on narrow, filthy streets scarcely wide enough for three persons to pass abreast .-The basements are used for shops, for there are stores as in American cities, where everything s sold and where lights are burning most of the time, day as well as night. These buildings look ary old, being covered with tile instead of shinles, which has accumulated moss and the refuse rom the chimneys for hundreds of years. But the new part is laid out with much taste upon wide streets, broad avenues, and public walks .--These streets have as fine sidewalks as are found o any city East or West, being made from small pobbles in the same manner as streets are payed. and by an arrangement of the colors many of them look quite ornamental. I am told that a sidewalk with a proper curb as these have, is a rare thing to be seen in any other part of Italy.

Nice is quite a fashionable resort as a watering place-something in southern Europe as Saratoga is in the United States. There have quite a number of Ruglish people come here and purchased properly and made improvements. There is a very beautiful drive for more than a mile along the sea-shote, ending in a fine public quare set out with ornamental trees and cooled with fountains. This, I was informed, was built natuitously by the English residents. The city itself is built upon a curve in the ser and the suburbs extending on all sides up the mountain alopez, give it a very picturesque appearance. The mountains, high up as anyhing will grow, are covered with olive trees, esembling a large kind of silvery willow that is very common in New England, growing around streams, and add much to the scenery by on treating their green branches with the white minted houses to their midst.

The town has a population of upwards of 30,000. It has some manufactories of silk and other small articles -but its chief articles of export are wine, oil and paint. Its trade, however, small-its mam attractions are the natural senuty of its location, the salubrity of its mounain air, and the flue sea-bathing upon the shores of the Mediterranean, But the sesson was over, and there were but few strangers here. By an autograph in the registry of the Hotel de France where I stopped, I saw that our now venerable ex President Martin Van Buren, and his son Martin, who was an invalid, had boarded at the same house during the Justices of the Peace jurisdiction up to the value | winter and had but just left for Paris. Our Italian host, in addition to bussling considerable about Sec. 5 & 6. Sheriffs, Justices and constables, having such a distinguished guest, told the following anecdote. Nice is subject occasionally to earthquakes, but no severe shock has been felt for many years. Mr. Van Buren told them for the rarity and novelty of it, that he would like to have a "small shake" hannen while he was there. Sure enough, about four weeks before I got along, in the dead of night, the whole city and mountains commenced rocking, and the inhabitants in the greatest consternation fied to the streets. Among others in the park which is near the botel, was Mr. Van Buren in disbabille in a high state of excitement. The citizens passed the balance of the night in the streets,-An elderly Scotch lady at my right at the dipner table, informed me that the vibrations were such I was shown a large seam in the building 'itself produced by it. Mr. Van Buren, she said, was

The report, however, "needs confirmation." We can only say that the improvemen most needed in our city just now is a first clas Hotel, for after the opening of the Lake Shor Railroad, we shall have an influx of travel which will speedily overflow our present Hotel accommodations, and their crowded condition will dete many persons from coming to or remaining is our city, who would otherwise come to us an invost their capital among us.

Connection .- We are glad to learn that w were misinformed as to the extent of the injury suffered by the man Ellis, in the workshop of the M. & M. R. R. Company, Monday. Dr. HATCHARD, one of the attending physicians, tell us that no amputation has yet been deemed no cessary. The circular asw itself cut off the bony point of the elbow, laving open the joint and dividing the fleehy and muscular part of the arm for some distance. Even with the best treat-ment and under the most favorable circumstances s stiff joint and greatly impaired limb must be NEARLY Two FIRES .- Yesterday forencon, a ne of the hands belonging to the Gas Company was fixing the pipes in Nagro's new building, some shavings between the ceiling and the floor above caught fire, but was promptly extinguished without material damage. This build ing, by far the finest of the kind in the West had a very narrow escape.

The tinman employed on the Washington House, in the Second Ward, dropped fire on the the Foundry bell. Damage trifling. Circuit Court.-The Circuit Court commenits May Term on Monday next. The Grand Ju-

Resolved. That the Aldermen of the 5th Ware 5th Ward of this city, commencing on the Mil-waukee River at the east end of Park street, the wanke kiver at the east end of rark thect, the centre of Park street, the centre of Park street being the centre of saidcans, to Clinton or River street, and that said slip or canal be laid out and constructed two hundred feet in width, in accordance with an act approved March 19th, 1853, and the act amendatory thereto, approved Jany. 12th, 1854. An Ordinance was passed to prevent and nun ish the discharge of fire-arms, in the City limits except on the 4th of July, or in the discharge of military duty. Another was adopted, to provide for the extension of the fire limits in the Second Ward. Ald. HARRER introduced a resolution, which passed, instructing the City Marshal to report to the City Attorney the names of any persons who violate the ordinance, to regulate drays and backs Ald, HARRIEL introduced a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Judiciary Committen to prepare in a convenient and concise form the ordinances of the city for publication. The Board then adjourned.

ber suggest during yesterday, that if to every twelve stores on Water street there was one of Carpenter's Rotary Pumps with the hose attached, the whole of the street could be regularly eprinkled at a less cost than by the ordinary method. Is this idea worth acting on? All day yesterday the dust was blown about in clouds and many of the merchants had to close them doors to prevent their goods from being spoiled THE ECCIPSE EQUIPMED .- We presume that the total eclipse of the moon came off isst evening as advertised: but so fer as the community are concerned, it was a complete failure. Thick clouds-

This high stage of the water has forbid the running out of much lumber. At Big Bull Falls, several fragers a a torn from the shide, which must be replaced thefere rates can be got over anoly.

At Little Bull, the water is too high and wild entirely to run. At Grand Expads, it is found anpossible to pass with safely at this posent stage. But the waters are falling to-day rapidly and it is believed that in a week more a general move of the lumber will take place. Large quantities are in readinces. are in readings

Since writing the above the floods have passed and the lumber is generally moving down the rap d.)—[Stevens Pt Pinney, April 26

Syracuse, April 30.

As the 4 o'clock P M accountedation train from Rechester over the old road was coming into this city about ten o'clock last evening, it an over a horse, throwing the last car off the tisch and down an embattement of twenty feet, tiach and down an embatkment of twenty teet, smashing it in process. The car contained eight persons, only one escaped uninjured.

M. O. Widder, lawyer of Canandaigus, was instantly killed. J. Ingersol was seriously injeted, and Ohuton Bramard, of N. Y. Won Hale, and Z. Farnam of St. Altais, Joseph Siebe, of Syracuse and Mr. Bates, of Rochester, a breakman, were all badly hurt.

Charleston, April 30
At Charleston, April 30
At Charleston fifty laborers were discharged from the Custom House on Sat inday for want of supply owing to the great falling off in foreign imports. Advices from Kansas to the Gan Supt or the Kansas League in this city of date of 16th report the arrival of steamers full of settlors.

On the day praviou, a severe deought prevailed. The supplies of grain were meanly exhausted.
